Maternity Care Practices in Infant Nutrition Care (mPINC) and The “Golden Hour”: An Opportunity to Improve Neonatal Patient Safety

September 14, 2010

Saint Joseph Regional Medical Center, Mishawaka

Maternity Care Practices in Infant Nutrition Care (mPINC)
 9 am - noon

mPINC provides specific health care practices that facilities can use in order to provide evidence based quality of care that is in the best interest of mothers and babies and complies with the Joint Commission’s new performance measure of exclusive breast milk feeding in hospitals. Facilities that have implemented mPINC policies have increased overall and exclusive breastfeeding rates and have improved health outcomes and lowered health care costs in the communities they serve.

The “Golden Hour”: An Opportunity to Improve Neonatal Patient Safety
 1 - 4 pm

Every year in Indiana, approximately 9,000 babies require some type of resuscitation at birth. The decisions made by health care providers in this “golden hour” immediately after birth may carry life-long implications. Safe and effective neonatal resuscitation is dependent upon the knowledge and skill of physicians and nurses working collaboratively as a team. In this workshop, participants will have the opportunity to use simulation-based training in clinical scenarios to practice skills and evaluate their performance.
